Increased

Minor river and surface water flooding impacts are possible but not expected across parts of the north of England on Sunday and parts of both the north of England and Wales on Wednesday. The flood risk is VERY LOW.

Assessment of flood risk

Surface water

The surface water flood risk is VERY LOW.

Minor surface water flooding impacts are possible but not expected on Sunday resulting from persistent rain in the north of England. Further heavy rain across the north of England and North Wales on Wednesday means minor surface water flooding impacts are again possible but not expected.

Rivers

The river flood risk is VERY LOW.

Minor river flooding impacts are possible but not expected on Sunday resulting from persistent rain in the north of England. Further heavy rain across the north of England and North Wales on Wednesday means minor river flooding impacts are again possible but not expected.

Coastal/Tidal

The coastal/tidal flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days.

Further unsettled weather on Thursday brings a risk of strong winds, waves and some surge along the east coast of England. Local minor coastal flood impacts are possible, but not expected, around some North Sea ports in East Anglia and the south-east of England later on Thursday.

Groundwater

The groundwater flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days.
