Assessment of flood risk

Coastal/Tidal

The coastal flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days. Strong winds and large waves may lead to some wind blown spray and overtopping locally, along the Yorkshire coast on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. However, only minimal impacts are expected.

Rivers

During today (Monday) some rivers in Wales will continue to respond to Sunday night's rainfall, however minimal river flooding impacts are expected.

The river flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days, despite further unsettled weather at times.

Surface water

The surface water flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days, despite further unsettled weather at times.

Groundwater

The groundwater flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days.
