Urban areas most at risk, mainly where hail and wind-blown debris block drains.

Assessment of flood risk

Surface water

The surface water flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days.

Minor surface water flooding impacts are possible across parts of the north and east of England during Thursday and into Friday morning due to thundery showers.

Further minor surface water flooding impacts are possible but not expected across parts of England and north-east Wales from later on Friday and during the weekend due to the potential for heavy, at times thundery rain.

Rivers

The river flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days.

Minor river flooding impacts are possible but not expected across parts of England from later on Friday and during the weekend due to the potential for heavy, at times thundery rain. Small and fast responding catchments are most at risk. Elsewhere, and at other times, no more than minimal river flooding impacts are expected, despite thundery showers.

Coastal/Tidal

The coastal/tidal flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days.

Groundwater

The groundwater flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days.
