Assessment of flood risk

Surface water

The surface water flood risk is LOW today (Thursday).

Heavy downpours on Thursday across parts of England and Wales may lead to localised surface water flooding. On Friday, further surface water flooding impacts are possible across parts of England due to heavy showers.

See Specific Areas of Concern Maps for details.

Rivers

The river flood risk is LOW today (Thursday).

Heavy downpours on Thursday across parts of England and Wales may lead to localised river flooding. On Friday, further river flooding impacts are possible across parts of England due to heavy showers.

See Specific Areas of Concern Maps for details.

Any river flooding impacts will probably be restricted to small and/or urban watercourses.

Coastal/Tidal

The coastal/tidal flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days despite spring tides peaking later today (Thursday) and early on Friday.

Groundwater

The groundwater flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days.
