Assessment of flood risk

Surface water

The surface water flood risk is LOW on Thursday.

Local minor surface water impacts are probable across western and southern parts of England and Wales on Thursday, and are possible but not expected more widely. See Specific Area of Concern Map for details.

On Saturday, minor surface water impacts are possible across parts of South West and North West England and Wales with the risk extending to most parts of England and Wales on Sunday. See Specific Area of Concern Map for details.

Impacts could include localised flooding from urban and fast responding smaller watercourses/catchments, drains, channels and flooding from overland flow.

Rivers

The river flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days.

Continued minor river flooding impacts are possible but not expected today (Wednesday) in parts of South West, South East England and the West and East Midlands as rivers respond to recent heavy rainfall.

On Saturday, minor river flooding impacts are possible across parts of South West and North West England and Wales with the risk extending to most parts of England and Wales on Sunday. See Specific Area of Concern Maps for details.

Coastal/Tidal

The coastal/tidal flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days.

Minor coastal/tidal flooding impacts are possible for Wales on Thursday due to gale force winds, large waves and high tides. See Area of Concern Map for details.

Groundwater

The groundwater flood risk is VERY LOW for the next five days.
